Chamber to spearhead community health council

Elk Point Chamber of Commerce is setting up a meeting between representatives of the Town of Elk Point, Chamber of Commerce and community, plus persons who are knowledgeable about health care and its delivery, who will become a steering committee for a future community health council.

The group will discuss the membership needs for such a council, its mandate and the area it will cover. The council, when formed, would give input from the community to a regional health council, which would in turn report to the Regional Health Authority.

Sid Holthe, who stressed the need for such a council to be formed in the immediate future, has volunteered to be the community representative on the steering committee. He feels that "when the full impact of health care changes become imminent, we may regret we didn't do this sooner." He sees the council as involving a wide spectrum of the community, and of "looking at health in its broadest sense," although he feels "it will take a lot of thought to determine its focus."

The Chamber also looked at the need for physician recruitment, after being told that rumors of Dr. Drew Ramful planning to leave the community were false, and that he has no intention of leaving under any circumstances. The Chamber has been given $500 toward recruiting an additional physician, but is aware that advertising in city papers and periodicals is prohibitively expensive. Town Manager Curt Svendsen reported that Mayor Ed Buck sees physician recruitment as an additional role for the ambulance committee, which is still short one member. Svendsen will take back to Council a Chamber suggestion that this representative be from the Chamber.

The Chamber is unsure if the current physicians would welcome an addition to their ranks, and authorized a volunteer to question Dr. Ramful in this regard. A suggestion was made that if rural physicians had student doctors come to town for part of their practical training, it might encourage them to establish practices in these areas after graduation.

The Chamber met at noon last Wednesday, as had been planned for the second meeting of the month, but has not scrapped its plan for one early meeting per month. Chamber's May 3 meeting will be held bright and early at 7:30 a.m., and attendance at that meeting will determine if early morning meetings are feasible.

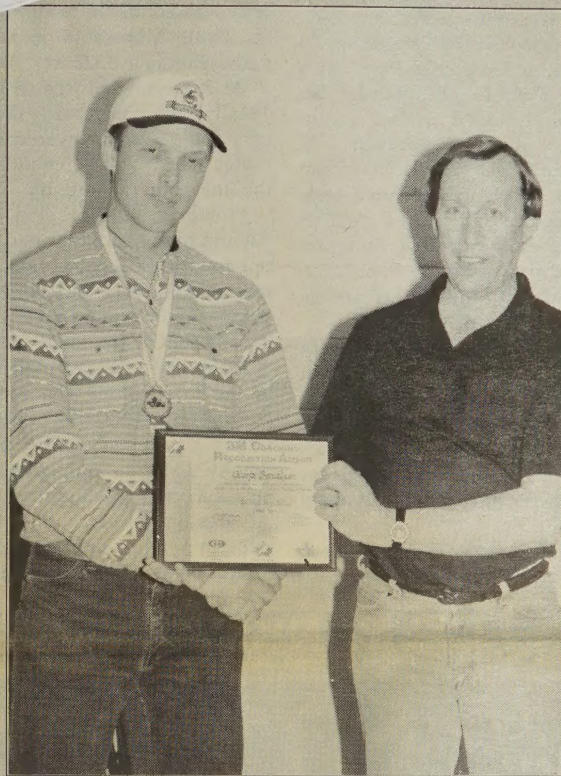

Dress up your business and staff for Spring Classic Stampede Week

Elk Point businesses and their staffs are being invited to dress western during the week prior to Elk Point Spring Classic Stampede.

Elk Point Chamber of Commerce once again agreed to sponsor a Rodeo Dress-Up Contest, with plaques going to the business premises and to the staff who were best dressed for the occasion. Certificates will be presented to the runners-up in both categories.

The Spring Classic Stampede is slated for May 13 and 14, 1995.

CAPC calls town hall meeting

The Elk Point and Area Community Advisory Policing Committee wants to know your concerns with policing in the community.

To find out what residents of Elk Point and surrounding areas feel is needed in crime prevention and public safety, the CAPC is hosting a Town Hall Meeting on Wednesday, May 10 at 7 p.m. in the Elk Point Elks Hall Lodge Room.

Cst. Pat Wasylynuk will be on hand at the meeting to explain the origins and objectives of community based policing, giving examples of this work which are already being undertaken in the community. He will also hear citizens' individual and community policing concerns, and urges all interested residents to attend.

Anyone who is unable to attend the meeting may mail their concerns to Elk Point RCMP at Box 218, Elk Point, AB or fax them to 724-2123.

Region lobbies for Trans-Canada Trail

By Rob Desjardins
Staff Writer

A delegation of historians and community leaders from Saskatchewan urged residents of northeastern Alberta to lobby for the Trans-Canada Trail, at a meeting in St. Paul on Wednesday.

The group told representatives from nearby towns, counties and villages that the trail, a proposed nation-wide pathway for hikers, cyclists and other tourists, should coincide with the old Carlton Trail.

The Carlton, which stretches from Winnipeg to Edmonton through north-central Saskatchewan and Alberta, follows a path roughly parallel to the North Saskatchewan River in our area.

Established in 1815, it was the first trail to span North America, group chair Bob Colliar said at the meeting.

But while the route boasts beautiful scenery, varied landscape and numerous historical sites, Alberta's Trans-Canada Trail planners appear likely to run their leg of the path along the old Redcoat Trail, a direct link between Winnipeg and Calgary.

"The Redcoat just isn't a scenic route at all, whereas our route has lots to interest the hiker — a real variety of vegetation," said group member Dan Palsich of Paradise Hill.

As well, he said, the northern route offers a huge sample of cultural groups and traditions — from the Ukrainian and French traditions to Hutterites, Mennonites, Muslims, First Nations people, and a variety of others.

But the most impressive, he said, is the Carlton's history — an amazing chronicle of historical events and sites, including:

- the voyage of Fr. Blanchet and Demers, the first priests in the west;
- Gabriel Dumont's move to Ft. Pitt in 1840;
- the wanderings of artist Paul Kane in 1846;
- the Red River settlers' move to BC in 1855;
- the movement of troops deployed in the Riel Uprising in 1885;
- the travels of Lillian Alling, the woman

Town reverses their accreditation decision

The Town of Elk Point has reversed an earlier decision to join the County of St. Paul and the Town of St. Paul in their Safety Accreditation Program. Council decided Tuesday night that, since the cost of joining the other two jurisdictions would be close to $1000 due to the need for reprinting forms and other material, they would not be involved in the joint program.

Developers and builders will still be able to access the County and Town of St. Paul's inspectors for their projects.

Council was told that if Elk Point did not join the duo, or have accredited inspectors of their own, the Province would designate appropriate inspectors (no doubt including those from St. Paul) who would be able to perform inspections in Elk Point. All inspections will be made on a user-pay basis, as the Town is not willing to subsidize them.

Council was visited by two delegations at Tuesday's meeting. The first was a group from the Elk Point Hospital Auxiliary, bearing a proclamation which Deputy Mayor Bill Schuhmacher signed, designating May 12 as Canada Health Day in Elk Point. Schuhmacher also proclaimed April 23 to 29 as Volunteer Week in Elk Point.

The second delegation was Elk Point's representative on the Northern Lights Library System Board, Betty Callbeck. Ms Callbeck gave an update on the System, which held its Annual Meeting on April 1. The same executive, on which Ms Callbeck serves as treasurer, was reappointed for 1995. Northern Lights is holding its own membership-wise, with the County of Smoky Lake recently added, and making up for the withdrawal of Wainwright in 1994. Vermilion has given notice that they intend to withdraw, but NLLS is meeting with them in hopes that they will reconsider. NLLS also hopes to contract service to other areas.

Minister of Culture Gary Mar has announced that library funding will continue to come out of general revenue, rather than from lottery funding, and that funding for libraries has been guaranteed until 1998.

Council will once again enter into an agreement with the Elk Point Golf and Country Club for the management and maintenance of the ball diamonds at the Elk Point Recreation Park for the 1995 season, for the sum of $500 per month. The Golf Club also collects user fees for the campsites on the Town's behalf, but these are maintained by the Town.

The urgent need for the purchase of a Gas Tech monitor to continually measure the amounts of oxygen, hydrogen sulfide and potentially explosive gases in confined entry situations was explained to Council by Safety Committee representative Dan Povaschuk. He noted that a number of other safety-related articles will also be needed in the near future. Council approved the purchase of the monitor.

Drive on for Trans-Canada Trail

who walked all the way from St. Paul, Minnesota to her native Russia in 1927.

At a meeting in Regina on Tuesday, the group made their case to the Saskatchewan committee which will be choosing the final route by June 10.

However, Colliar said, if Alberta has already decided to opt for the Redcoat option, it may make it very hard for his province's committee to choose the Carlton route.

Community representatives at the meeting — who came from Bonnyville, Elk Point, Grand Centre, Vegreville and Smoky Lake — immediately struck a committee to press the Alberta Trailnet Society, Alberta's equivalent to the selection committee, to consider the Carlton option.

Speaking to the audience, St. Paul Mayor John Trefanenko said time is of the essence in pursuing the matter.

"I think we all strongly feel that we're the original Trans-Canada Trail, and we can't lose any time in convincing the powers that be that we are right."

The committee, which includes representatives from the various towns, as well as the local snowmobile club and Metis Association, has already approached Alberta Trailnet vice-president Dave Matthews about the issue.

And Matthews, who spoke to the Journal on Friday, says the Northeast group can be assured that they will have a chance to state their case.

"We're still flexible and fluid, and we're certainly trying to make the decision-making process as democratic as possible," he said from his Calgary home.

"The submission from the (Saskatchewan) group has certainly impressed us, and we do want to get back to them."

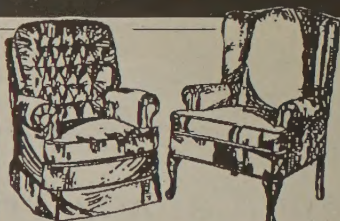

He said a key challenge to the Alberta group will be proving that "the right of way is still in place with easements. If they can demonstrate that, they'll have an excellent case."

At the moment, he said, the trail "would still officially go down south if it had to go today. However, we are really intrigued by this, and we will investigate it further."

Volunteers... the heart of the community

Look around you. One in four people you see is giving time to a voluntary organization or community group. Six out of ten people help others on their own, not through a formal organization.

Volunteers develop skills and expertise and use them in so many different ways. Many are on the front line, delivering health, social and recreation services. Volunteers organize special events to raise funds for charity. They also serve on committees or boards of directors of voluntary organizations.

All too often volunteers are taken for granted. They go about their tasks unassumingly, without recognition from the public. Yet volunteers inject an estimated $13.2 billion worth of services into Canadian communities each year. We owe our thanks to each of these volunteers. Let's celebrate the spirit of giving and sharing that is such a vital part of life in our community.

April 24 to 29 is National Volunteer Week. This is an ideal time to give thought to the vital role that volunteers play in our community. What have you planned for your volunteers?

With great appreciation

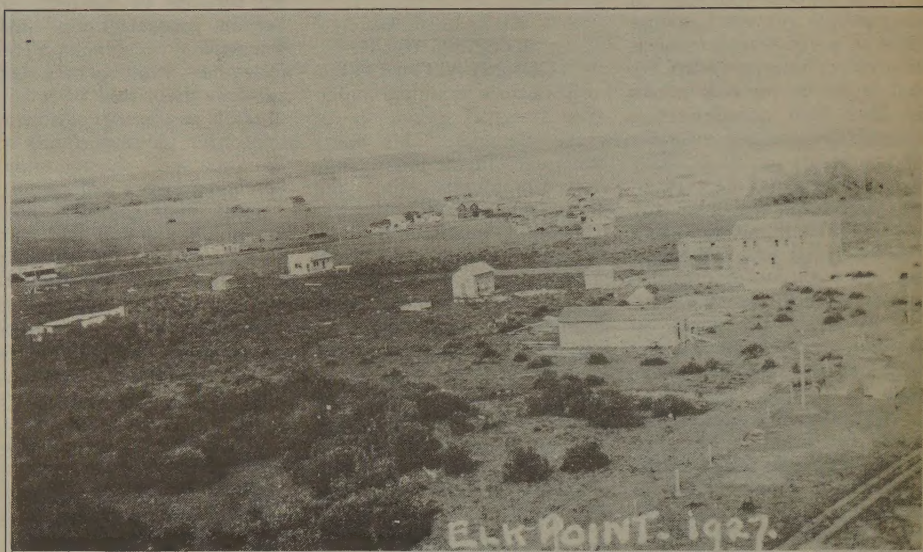

Volunteers - they do so much,
Our town's made richer by their touch,
Whether they're delivering a tasty meal
Or canvassing for a donation appeal,
Calling bingo numbers late at night,
Or picking roadside trash on a May day bright.
These dedicated helpers all
Work through winter, spring and fall,
Some may take a summer break,
Others volunteer to work at playground or lake.
Some have worked for years without fail,
Piecing quilts and stuffing mail,
Others have recently joined the throng
And hope to labor just as long
In service of community,
Creating a better place to be,
Easing ways for you and me.

This Volunteer Week
We salute each one -
For every single
Job they've done!

Our Past

WE'VE GROWN SINCE THEN - Elk Point as it looked 68 years ago.

Looking back at Elk Point, 1927

By Steve Andrishak
Museum curator and historian

The above photo, courtesy of Allan Berg, was taken from the top of the United Grain Growers elevator in 1927, the year that the Canadian National Railroad arrived in Elk Point and district. At that time, most of our hamlet was located in the east portion of today's town - it was centered in the area near the crossroads of Highway 41 and 50th Avenue.

This photo shows the original Imperial Lumber Co. which sat on the lot where Nick Bochon's residence now stands. To the east was the Alberta Hotel (now the Elk Point Hotel) which was nearing completion. To the north stood the Hayward Lumber Co. which was built on the lot where Phil's Hardware is now located. To the extreme north end stood Markstad's Store (where Wolanuk's store is located) and immediately across the road to the east stood Markstad's Ford agency and IHC Implement shop. Markstad was the first to locate on our present Main Street location. He did so shortly after fire in 1922 destroyed his premises in the east portion of town. A number of other buildings were also destroyed at that same time.

The lone residence shown in the centre of the photo shows the newly constructed home of Wm. Andrishak. Soon after this photo was taken he moved his small general store onto the lot now occupied by Stedmans. Many other businesses moved a short time later so they could be near the C. N. Station.

In case you are wondering what the building connected to the north side of the hotel was, it was a two story "outhouse." It stood about 25 feet high and about 16 feet wide. A walk connected the upper story to the top floor of the hotel and the lower floor had a similar entrance. Had there been a Guinness Book of Records in 1927, Elk Point might have been listed in it for having the highest known outhouse.

Vera remembered

*My friend has gone
I can't believe,
She left us here
To cry and grieve.*

*We had such good times
In our day,
Whether it was
Work or play.*

*We watched our sons grow up
Best friends,
But in this life
Good things must end.*

*If storm clouds gathered
Day by day,
"That's the way it goes,"
I'd hear her say.*

*Always remembered,,,
And ever dear,
We loved her best

Bendixen named Minor Hockey Coach of the Year

George Bendixen, who coached Elk Point Lightning Elks to the Provincial Bantam Championship, has been named Elk Point Minor Hockey's Coach of the Year for 1995. The announcement was made at the Minor Hockey Annual Meeting last Wednesday, at which the coaches of all the teams were thanked for their efforts over the season and received certificates of appreciation.

The meeting also heard reports from the coaches, and saw the election of the association's 1995-96 executive.

The 1994-95 season was Bendixen's first year with Elk Point Minor Hockey, and a very successful one in which "we won everything there was to be won," including the Zone and Provincial championships. It was also the Bantams' first season in the North East Alberta Hockey League, and Bendixen said it was a rough one which took the boys half a season to adjust to, but helped to prepare them for the rigors of Provincials. The Lightning Elks played 56 games during the season, netting 30 wins, 29 losses and 7 ties, and scoring 337 goals and 435 assists. They also collected a large number of penalties: 1277 minutes worth. Bendixen expressed thanks to his assistant coach, Jerry Kjenner, for his very valuable assistance during the season.

Lightning's Provincial championship was the first for Elk Point in 21 years of minor hockey, and will result in the team members and staff receiving a large donation from Minor Hockey toward jackets commemorating their win. It was noted that the Provincials had brought a lot of people, and a lot of money, into the community, and for Elk Point's Bantams to win the championship was "something pretty spectacular," in the words of another coach.

Reports from other coaches included one of "a pretty good year" from Midget Thunder coach George Hahn, who said he "talked myself into taking them on" and found them "nothing like coaching the Atoms," which he had done previously. Thunder ended up third in their league, but defeated St. Paul to win the Zone, and won three tough games in Provost before losing to Athabasca in the semi-finals.

The tiniest hockey players were the new Flyweights team coached by Mike McDonald, who said these beginners enjoyed their first attempt at learning the game, and also enjoyed the one game they played against another community's team.

Micro Novice was coached by Dave Cousins, and were "busy every weekend." They went to 4 tournaments and won every game in 3 of those, and all but one in the fourth.

The Novice teams were coached by Murry Nielsen and Ron Salt, who split 21 Novice players into two teams. Salt's Novice I finished second in their league, while Novice II placed fifth.

The Atoms also had two teams. Ron Croteau's Novice I squad found the North East League very tough, and did not win a single league game, however, they beat some of the top Highway 28 League teams when they met them in tournaments. The Novice II crew was led by first-year coach Mel Ryks, and also lost every league game. The high spot of their year was winning games in their own tournament.

The Peewees were coached by Jerry Kopeck, who called it "a developmental year" for the mostly first-year players, who also found league play tough but never gave up and did better in tournaments.

A number of the teams had profit from tournaments, etc., to donate back to Minor Hockey, who will match the donation and put it toward the Arena Debt Reduction project. Names of the contributing teams will go on the plaque in the arena.

Aspiring local artists hosting show

Imagine what could happen if a small group of serious artists gathered together once a week to form an art club. POW!!

A dynamic group who call themselves the Elk Point "Northern Expressions" is an art club which was formed in September, 1994. This small group of enthusiastic artists joined together for incentive reasons but soon discovered the need to venture further outside their limits. As of February 25, they are now a sub group of the Sask. Alta. Visual Arts Guild (SAVAG) who meet in Lloydminster quarterly with other subcommittees surrounding the Lloydminster region. They find exposure through donating art pieces to charity auctions such as the recent "Art With Heart" held at the St. Paul Ukrainian Cultural Centre on April 8. The group was also approached to produce an Elk Point town map.

There's no limit to their ambition which will soon show in their First Annual Art Show and Sale to be held at the Seniors Recreation Centre in Elk Point on May 5, 7 p.m. to 10 p.m., May 6 and 7, 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.

This show will feature many northeastern Alberta artists. All art lovers should not miss this show. Admission is free. Any artists are urged to join this fun-loving group which meets Thursday evenings at 7 p.m. in the art room of Elk Point Elementary School, thanks to their kind hospitality.

The Northern Expressions look forward to seeing you there.

The next best thing to Nashville

It's a far bit north of Nashville, to be sure, but last Saturday night, the Spring Park Hall rang with the same kind of country sound that has given the Grand Old Opry decades of fame, as they held their third and final Spring Park Jamboree of the season.

Nineteen individual and group acts took their turn in the spotlight, offering over three hours of guitar, harmonica, and fiddle music, the rhythm of mule bones and spoons, singing, yodelling, and cowboy poetry to the large and enthusiastic audience.

Every bit of this music would have been right at home on the Grand Old Opry stage, from the bluegrass style "T for Texas" to Don Williams' "My Best Friend" to Hank Snow's "Hobo Bill." The good old songs of years gone by were enjoyed by all.

Performers came from as far as 75 miles away to take part, including a number from Elizabeth Settlement, and others from McRae, St. Vincent Lake, Ashmont and Bonnyville, as well as the local area.

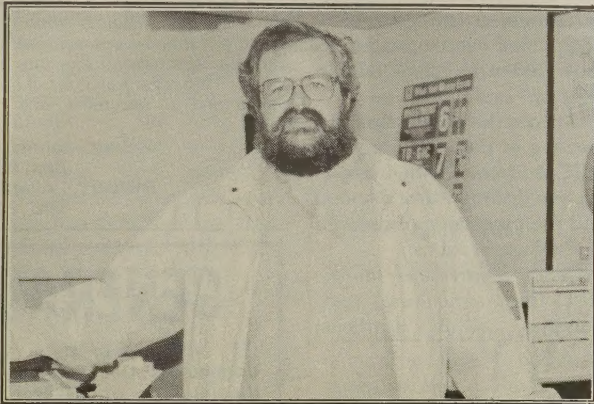

The lineup of vocalists included Bernadette Godlin, Jim Williams, Andy Sydora, Andrew Pearson, Peter and Jocelyn, Archie Collins, Arnie Price, Ole Erickson, August Collins, Francis and Reta Dallaire, Peter Erasmus, Bernie and Omer Roberts, Bill and Nadia Lozeau, while Adelard Bilodeau and August Collins entertained with fiddle music, Dennis Heffernan and Franklin Wolters with guitar and harmonica, and of course, Roy Scott with spoons and mule bones.

Well-known cowboy poet "Old Jake" (John Drobot) gave his interpretation of the cowboy's attire and of life at the Wagon Wheel Ranch, while first-time performer Vicki Brooker added some poems about the chuckwagon circuit.

Elementary Skippers

On April 1, 1995, thirty Elk Point Elementary Skippers attended an all day workshop, from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., in the Elk Point Elementary gym. The workshop was put on by six skippers from Bonnyville and two of their coaches. The Bonnyville Skipperos helped to develop many skills in the Elk Point skippers, in the areas of individual and pair single rope and also in double dutch turner tricks, jumper tricks and strength moves. The day finished with a half hour showtime for the Elk Point parents. The Elk Point skippers displayed some of their skills that they had accomplished through the day and they also received a certificate for attending the workshop.

Many thanks go to the Elk Point Co-op for donating fresh fruit for the workshop and to all the parents for supplying delicious snacks. The skippers enjoyed all the food.

The Elk Point skippers gained many new and exciting skills during the workshop and each one should be very proud of how well they did.

Heavy Crude Council meets with AEUB

The 1995 spring joint meeting between the Alberta Energy and Utilities Board (formerly ERCB) and the Heavy Crude Council was held at the Provincial Building in Vermilion on April 20.

"This is an ongoing dialogue between the energy regulatory authority and the surface rights organizations within northeastern Alberta which form the Heavy Crude Council," said Alban Bugej, chairman of the HCC, who chaired this year's spring meeting.

"Our dialogue and participation with the former ERCB through such joint meetings dates back to 1985. It was appropriate for the first joint meeting with the newly formed regulatory body, the Alberta Energy and Utilities Board, to be held on the tenth anniversary of the first meeting with the ERCB in 1985," said Bugej.

"The mandate of the AEUB as far as energy is concerned is the orderly development of the non-renewable resources of Alberta. The mandate of the surface rights associations is the preservation of sustainable agriculture on lands impacted by energy development. These two objectives are complementary. We are both looking after the public interests," added Bugej.

As we move forward within a more environmentally conscious society, the issues facing both the regulatory authorities and the surface rights organizations are the accountability by all operators and the enforcement of regulations.

An example given by Bugej is the issue of gas migration into water aquifers. This is a "$650 million program that has been lingering for decades in some oilfields within Alberta, including those near Lloydminster, Provost and Elk Point. This program is now to be addressed immediately. All known serious gas migration problems are to be corrected by September 1, 1996. Any new water gasification problems must be corrected within a year of detection."

The problem of incompetent and unqualified workers, "especially the self-appointed consultants" working in the oil and gas fields of Alberta is being addressed. In future most of these workers will be needing certification. "We simply cannot continue to allow unqualified people creating an environmental havoc within Alberta," said Bugej.

Besides the above, the joint meeting of the AEUB and the HCC addressed other issues such as drilling waste disposal and the processing of reduced spacing applications.

There is pressure on the HCC from agricultural communities within northeast

Alberta for it to become active in the area of utilities regulation. "This is an interesting idea, something we might have to look into in the near future," responded Bugej.

4-H Multi Club news

On Saturday, April 29, there will be an Achievement Day for the craft project members. This group of children has been meeting frequently on Friday nights since October, to craft, cook and sew an amazing number of items, under the leadership of Cheri Lindquist. They are a very enthusiastic, industrious group of children, ranging from 7 to 14 years of age. Come out and admire their accomplishments from 1:00 to 3:00 p.m. in the Home Ec room.

Our club entered a team in the Little Royal Judging Competition in Vermilion on March 17. The team, consisting of Tim Havener, Kyle Bintz, Peter Danyluk and Kelly Orr, won 3rd place in the crop category and placed 13 overall out of 40 teams. Well done, boys!

The Beef members held a Mini Achievement Day on April 9 at the Ag Barn. Members brought their project animals and practiced leading them. Jennifer and Kevin Wirsta gave a showmanship and clipping demonstration. It was a very informative session and will help to prepare members and animals for their upcoming Achievement Day on June 3.

Our club will be participating in Highway Cleanup on May 6. We are planning to go swimming afterward.

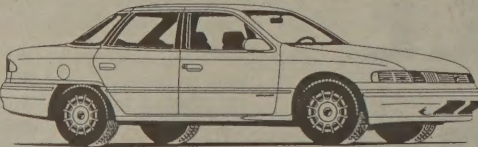

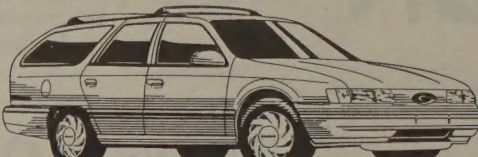

David Naber, Tim Havener and Robyn Danyluk are participating in a 4-H Connections Canada Exchange this summer along with the St. Paul District.

They are matched with a group in Lachute, Quebec. The exchange group will be doing some fundraising for this. Look for "Cow Patty Bingo" at the St. Paul Steer Show and Sale on June 5. They are also collecting old batteries. If you would like to donate batteries, call Robyn at 724-4317.

New books for enjoyable spring reading

By Michele Ducek
Librarian

Dare we state that it looks like spring has finally sprung? (Of course now that I've said it, winter will probably come back to smite us once more.)

More new books at the library:

Mars and Venus in the Bedroom by John Gray continues the theme from his earlier best seller. This is a guide to lasting romance and passion.

Speaking of passion, Donald Spoto's latest star biography is titled A Passion for Life: the Biography of Elizabeth Taylor. The movie queen's life, career, loves and (frequent) marriages are detailed in a book Taylor went to court over in an attempt to stop publication.

Family Secrets by John Bradshaw takes us into the heart of the family's mysterious power to shape our lives. It examines how secrets are created, how they influence us and the risks we take in exploring them.

On the Safe Side by Paula Statman is a guide for parents who want to teach their children to be safe, strong and street-smart without creating fear.

The Last Word on First Names comes from the same people who produced Beyond Jennifer and Jason, Linda Rosenkrantz and Pamela Redmond Satran. No one else gives you the inside story on names: why the world has all the Ashleys it needs (even Howard Stern named his daughter Ashley), why everyone loves Emily (it has dignity, daintiness and drive), why you should or should not name your son Ishmael (think of the possible nicknames).

Northern Lights Library System received a grant and purchased real estate books for member libraries. Real Estate Buying/Selling Guide for Alberta and Mortgages and Foreclosures: Know Your Rights by Self-Counsel Press are two of these books. Stuffed with helpful advice on buying, selling and financing your home.

The Tinker's Girl by Catherine Cookson is the story of Jinnie Howlett, the daughter of an impoverished tinker who becomes a maid-of-all-work at the end of the nineteenth century.

Reaction to the modification has been extremely positive both from inside and outside the association.

Calgary Stampede President Bob Dinning is "pleased to see this new direction taken by the Canadian Professional Chuckwagon Association. A higher profile, new marketing and more promotions will enhance the sport for its members, sponsors and participating organizations." Linda Abercrombie, Calgary Stampede director responsible for chuckwagon racing, says the CPCA "is taking a serious approach to their sport. Its members are looking at racing as a profession, a business. It's a step forward, the CPCA is moving with the times."

Brian Laboucane, 1994 NPCA champion, said "it's a positive move which should help in the sponsorship and advertising areas. We're looking forward to a great season."

Buddy Bensmiller, 8-time NPCA champion and 2-time Calgary Stampede champion, says the move "should make a difference, just in terms of perception. I believe it will help increase prize money and recognition, particularly at our Canadian Championship in August."

A new look, a fresh approach has the the Canadian Professional Chuckwagon Association members eager to begin a very competitive 1995 season.
